

Contents

SPECIAL ISSUE:

Why should we study about social studies in Asia?

Rocking the Boat: Critical Reflexivity in Social Studies Teachers Malathy Krishnasamy, Jasmine B.-Y. Sim, and Shuyi Chua	1
Governance Issue on Citizenship/Social Studies Education: Democratic Education and its Paradox Problem Norio Ikeno	19
Enculturation Model of Nationalism at Elementary Schools Based on the Character Education in Semarang City, Central Java Province, Indonesia Wasino Wasino and Hari Wuljanto	33
Developments and Challenges of Civic Education in Hong Kong SAR, China (1997-2017) Eric King-man Chong	47

ARTICLES:

A Framework for Controversial Issue Gatekeeping within Social Studies Education: The Case of Japan Jongsung Kim, Thomas Misco, Kazuhiro Kusahara, Toshinori Kuwabara, and Masato Ogawa	65
Reconstruction of Participation: Some implications to Social Studies Education from a Comparative Study on Youth Participation of Sweden and Japan Tatsuhei Morozumi	77

Reviews of Policy, Practice and Research:

Parent Engagement Policy in Indonesia Wasino Wasino, Siti Zulaicha, and Fitri Amalia Shintasiwi	97
The Latest Trend in the Reform of High School Education in Japan: Focusing on the Curriculum Reform Tomohito Harada	111
Ideal Japanese Social Studies Researchers: Researcher as Supporter for Teacher's Aims Talk and His Good Gatekeeping. Tatsuya Watanabe	115